all countries around the baltic sea region face a great shortage of entrepreneurs and managers for small and medium sized enterprises smes this substantially limits economic growth and innovation capacity due to demographic reasons population and thus working age population is expected to decline in almost all

European countries in the near future so that this shortage will even increase and have a strong impact on the SMEs that must compete with major industries for the few well-qualified talents to tackle this pressing issue. Experts from Denmark, Germany, Latvia, Lithuania, and Norway teamed up in an EU-funded project to develop a common vocational training titled Master Craftsman that reflects the needs for SMEs in particular from the craft sector. This publication contains all relevant information from the concept and background to the actual curricula and example for examination regulations.

This book is a detailed manual for the implementation of competence diagnostics in the field of vocational training with the COMET competence model. Both conceptual competences as well as practical skills are recorded and evaluated. The manual guides through all methodological steps, including the preparation and implementation of tests, cross and longitudinal studies, the development of context analyses and measurement methods for the test. Motivation: The focus of the final chapter is the application of the COMET procedure for the design, organisation, and evaluation of vocational education and training processes.

Achieving enterprise success necessitates addressing enterprises in ways that match the complexity and dynamics of the modern enterprise environment. However, since the majority of enterprise strategic initiatives appear to fail, among which those regarding information technology, the currently often practiced approaches to strategy development and implementation seem more an obstacle than an enabler for strategic enterprise success. Two themes underpin the fundamentally different views outlined in this book: first, the competence-based perspective on governance whereby employees are viewed as the crucial core for effectively addressing the complex, dynamic, and uncertain enterprise reality, as well as for successfully defining and operationalizing strategic choices; second, enterprise engineering as the formal conceptual framework and methodology for arranging a unified and integrated enterprise design, which is a necessary condition for enterprise success. Jan Hoogervorst's presentation, which is based on both research and his professional background at Sogeti B.V., aims at professionals in management and consulting as well as students in management science and business information systems.

You hold in your hands a comprehensive guide to creating a flourishing software development practice, one that makes a powerful impact with the software it builds. This guide describes the unique aspects of creating software-based products; it also lays out the clear practical guidance that's necessary to construct and evolve a modern practice. This includes hiring, structuring teams, properly writing good code leveraging test driven development designing architecture automating development processes with devops techniques and importantly leading teams through the disruptive change that each of these can represent further the first principles upon which these practices rest will be elaborated so that the reader can readily adapt the already practical techniques to the broadest possible set of real world situations
