over the last fifty years humanity has developed an extraordinary global utility which is omnipresent universal and available to all the global positioning system gps a network of twenty four satellites and their monitoring stations on earth it makes possible almost all modern technology from the smartphone in your pocket to the mars rover neither the internet nor the cloud would work without it and it is changing us in profound ways we ve yet to come to terms with while gps has brought us breathtakingly accurate methods of timekeeping navigation and earthquake tracking our overwhelming reliance on it is having unexpected consequences on our culture and on ourselves gps is reshaping our thinking about privacy and surveillance and brings with it the growing danger of gps terrorism neuroscientists have even found that using gps for navigation may be affecting our cognitive maps possibly rearranging the grey matter in our heads leading to the increasingly common phenomenon death by gps in which drivers blindly follow their devices into deserts lakes and impassable mountains deeply researched inventive and with fascinating insights into the way we think about our place in the world pinpoint reveals the way that the technologies we design to help us can end up shaping our lives it is at once a grand history of science and a far reaching book about contemporary culture welcome to milton high school where fear is a teacher s best tool and every student is a soldier in the war on terror a struggling public school outside the nation s capital milton sat squarely at the center of two trends growing fear of resurgent terrorism and mounting pressure to run schools as job training sites in response the school established a specialized homeland security program a curriculum of fear takes us into milton for a day to day look at how such a program works what it means to students and staff and what it says about the militarization of u s public schools and more broadly the state of public education in this country nicole nguyen guides us through a curriculum of national security themed classes electives and internships designed through public private partnerships with major defense contractors like northrop grumman and federal agencies like the nsa she introduces us to students in the process of becoming a corps of diverse workers for the national security industry learning to be vigilant citizens and she shows us the everyday realities of a program intended to improve the school revitalize the community and eliminate the achievement gap with reference to critical work on school militarization neoliberal school reform the impact of the global war on terror on everyday life and the political uses of fear a curriculum of fear maps the contexts that gave rise to milton s homeland security program and its popularity ultimately as the first ethnography of such a program the book provides a disturbing close encounter with the new normal imposed by the global war on terror a school at once under siege and actively preparing for the siege itself
