an expansive analysis of the relationship between human and machine in music from the mid eighteenth century on there was a logic at work in musical discourse and practice human or machine that discourse defined a boundary of absolute difference between human and machine with a recurrent practice of parsing human musicality from its merely mechanical simulations in sounding human deirdre loughridge tests and traverses these boundaries unmaking the human or machine logic and seeking out others better characterized by conjunctions such as and or with sounding human enters the debate on posthumanism and human machine relationships in music exploring how categories of human and machine have been continually renegotiated over the centuries loughridge expertly traces this debate from the 1737 invention of what became the first musical android to the creation of a sound wave instrument by a british electronic music composer in the 1960s and the chopped and pitched vocals produced by sampling singers voices in modern pop music from music generating computer programs to older musical instruments and music notation sounding human shows how machines have always actively shaped the act of music composition in doing so loughridge reveals how musical artifacts have been or can be used to help explain and contest what it is to be human

the beginning of the eighteenth century opened spain to an influx of people books and ideas and gave the country its own brief age of enlightenment at this time of momentous change the three authors represented in this volume contributed to the europe wide debate over the nature of women and their position in society benito jerónimo feijoo was an admired scholar and a prolific author one of his most controversial essays was defence of women which argued that women were men s intellectual equals this sparked a pamphlet war that continued for twenty five years josefa amar y borbón was a writer and translator who submitted her own spirited argument the defence of the talents of women to a debate on whether women should be admitted to the new economic societies she also demanded in her discourse on the education of women that women should be given the opportunity to study and learn at the very end of the century inés joyes y blake published an apology for women arguing that women should develop self respect support each other and refuse to be manipulated by insincere lovers and domineering husbands all three writers wrote with verve and imagination about one of the most important social questions of their day this edition connects four female writers from two different countries presenting the english translations of two of the most popular eighteenth century french novels and a sequel to one of them this book considers neopopulism as a central issue to understand patterns of women s citizenship construction in many countries of contemporary latin america it also explains the paradoxes entailed for women s participation and citizenship rights helen maria williams s epic poem peru first published in 1784 movingly recounts the story of francisco pizarro s brutal conquest and exploitation of the incas and their subsequent revolt against spain like william wordsworth who revised the prelude over the course of his life williams revisited her epic several times within almost four decades transforming it with each revision it began as an ambitious poetic blueprint for revolution in terms of politics gender religion and genre by the time it appeared in 1823 under the title peruvian tales in her last poetry collection williams s voice had become more moderate more restrained in her words her muse had become timid reflecting the cultural shift that had taken place in england since the poem s earliest publication this edition includes both versions of the poem along with extensive examples of williams s literary sources other poetic works and the many and varied critical responses from contemporary reviewers reviews are an important aspect of scholarly discussion because they help filter out which works are relevant in the yearly flood of publications and are thus influential in determining how a work is received the ibr published again since 1971 as an interdisciplinary international bibliography of reviews it is a unique source of bibliographical information the database contains entries on over 1 2 million book reviews of literature dealing primarily with the humanities and social sciences published in 6 820 mainly european scholarly journals reviews of more than 560 000 scholarly works are listed the database increases every year by 60 000 entries every entry contains the following information on the work reviewed author title on the review reviewer periodical year edition page issn language subject area in german english italian publisher address of journal this book argues that women authors of the french eighteenth century claimed reason and contributed to enlightenment it begins by framing the enlightenment as fiction in two senses first what passes under the name of enlightenment in much current critical discourse is a fiction or a caricatured construct second works of fiction can illuminate enlightenment the book offers fresh readings of texts by the three most prominent women among eighteenth century writers in french francoise de graffigny marie jeanne riccoboni and isabelle de charriere these authors challenged the widely held idea that women s reason was inferior to men s literary forms novels stories plays essays and letters allowed these authors to approach the question of reason in particularly nuanced ways faithful to the eighteenth century this project is also relevant to the twenty first book jacket this multidisciplinary groundbreaking collection combines original thematic essays with the best of the existing literature on the study of terrorism it offers a comprehensive overview of global and domestic terrorism by focusing on acts of terrorism and their relationship to culture religion history politics economics and ideology each chapter contains an overview of specific areas in the field along with key articles on each subject this book is the first of its kind to provide students academics and researchers with photographs maps and online references for further study this is a welcome addition for courses in criminal justice criminology sociology and political science covers the period from 1790 to 1905 in the times of london peruvians dispersed presents an anthropological study of transnational migration to the united states spain japan and argentina karsten pærregaard spent a total of one year living with peruvian migrants in four continents which allowed him to make ethnographic in depth descriptions of peru s many migrant communities and at the same time discuss how immigration and labor market policies in the global north both thwart and spur migration from the global south the book also offers an innovative contribution to the methodological debate about multi sited field research which in recent years has become prominent among scholars studying processes of globalization transnationalism and multiculturalism because of the wide span of social groups in peru that migrate and the global dispersion of peruvians in america asia and europe the study of the peruvian migration offers a unique opportunity to rethink current attempts to theorize transnational and diasporic migration and develop the methodological and analytical framework for a global ethnography
