169 papers from the toledo congress of the european association for jewish studies offering a broad realistic perspective on the advances achievements and anxieties of judaic studies from the bible to our days on the eve of the new millennium in 1322 a jewish doctor named abner entered a synagogue in the castilian city of burgos and began to weep in prayer falling asleep he dreamed of a great man who urged him to awaken from his slumber shortly thereafter he converted to christianity and wrote a number of works attacking his old faith abner tells the story in fantastic detail in the opening to his hebrew language but anti jewish polemical treatise teacher of righteousness in the religiously plural context of the medieval western mediterranean religious conversion played an important role as a marker of social boundaries and individual identity the writers of medieval religious polemics such as teacher of righteousness often began by giving a brief first person account of the rejection of their old faith and their embrace of the new in such accounts ryan szpiech argues the narrative form plays an important role in dramatizing the transition from infidelity to faith szpiech draws on a wide body of sources from christian jewish and muslim polemics to investigate the place of narrative in the representation of conversion making a firm distinction between stories told about conversion and the experience of religious change his book is not a history of conversion itself but a comparative study of how and why it was presented in narrative form within the context of religious disputation he argues that between the twelfth and fifteenth centuries conversion narratives were needed to represent communal notions of history and authority in allegorical dramatic terms after considering the late antique paradigms on which medieval christian conversion narratives were based szpiech juxtaposes christian stories with contemporary accounts of conversion to islam and judaism he emphasizes that polemical conflict between abrahamic religions in the medieval mediterranean centered on competing visions of history and salvation by seeing conversion not as an individual experience but as a public narrative conversion and narrative provides a new interdisciplinary perspective on medieval writing about religious disputes
