new scholarship on Katherine Mansfield's The Garden Party and other stories together with creative work inspired by Mansfield's last collection of short stories published in her lifetime. The Garden Party and other stories would solidify Katherine Mansfield's place as the most prominent modernist short story writer of her generation. Early reviewers of the collection commented on the similarities it shared with her previous collection Bliss and other stories. However, while contemporary reviews were mixed, many emphasized the psychological power of her stories, praising how she was able to bring her characters to life in a way simple action could not. While it contains some of Mansfield's most sophisticated and well-loved stories, several of the stories in The Garden Party initially appeared in the sphere and thus were often dismissed as inferior. Mansfield herself felt some of these stories fell short of her desired effect, though recent scholarship has revealed their greater complexity. The essays in this volume, by both seasoned and newer Mansfield scholars, work to continue this conversation. The collection also includes Mansfield-inspired short fiction, two translations of memorial poems dedicated to Mansfield by Chinese and French contemporaries, with accompanying notes, and a recently re-discovered book review by Mansfield. In addition, Sydney Janet Kaplan provides a reflection on her personal meeting with Christopher Isherwood, a writer heavily influenced by the life and work of Mansfield.

A bold walkabout across the land of vision, imagination, and reality, the stories in this book are a combination of my imagination, vision, and experiences, and contacts. Writes storyteller Judith A. Lewis about this compelling collection of 65 stories about the Australian outback, the Pacific, India, and traveling: they came to me in vivid detail, and I felt compelled to share these insights into a richer way of looking at our relationship to the earth. Her theme is the journey across landscapes through cultures or into the vivid realms of visionary experience. Lewis writes evocatively about traveling in spirit and body across Aboriginal and cultural terrains, from meeting kangaroo spirits to long-lost fathers. But she writes with equal insight and warmth about the enigmas of the heart, its secrets, joys, aspirations, and epiphanies. A twelve-year-old girl survives an illness by communing with the waratah in bloom; a traveler in Bombay is arrested by beauty amidst the frenetic urban haze; two twins separated in early childhood journey towards each other; a homeless man constantly walks the highways to bury his past; an Aboriginal medicine man named Waramingo meets the dreamtime ancestors. A lot of the visionary stories pertain to the land and its secrets, and those who visit it from afar. Lewis says, "I believe that the earth is alive and awaiting our recognition, as are the other dimensions that we all could inhabit. I hope my stories help you remember what you already know: that there is no separation, that everything from stones to stars is part of us on this lovely planet."
