today nutrition is mainly discussed under nutritional medical health or ideological aspects e.g. vegetarianism, veganism etc. although the food industry represents one of the most important markets, questions of food production, agriculture, food trade and biodiversity are mostly discussed under national auspices, not only on the producer side but also from the consumer perspective. food markets, although still nationally structured, have become more and more global markets, which can be seen for example in the development of food commodity prices. in addition, large food corporations are pursuing the strategy of standardizing the entire value chains in the agricultural and food sectors under their control. mind you, the book addresses economic issues related to food production, agriculture, food trade and biodiversity. alternatives to traditional agriculture, factory farming and biodiversity loss are discussed and reflected upon from an economic perspective. particular attention is paid to aspects of globalization. this book is a translation of the original german 1st edition ernährung, nahrungsmittelmärkte und landwirtschaft by christian j. jäggi, published by springer fachmedien wiesbaden gmbh, part of springer nature, in 2018. the translation was done with the help of artificial intelligence machine translation by the service deepl.com. a subsequent human revision was done primarily in terms of content so that the book will read stylistically differently from a conventional translation. springer nature works continuously to further the development of tools for the production of books and on the related technologies to support the authors.

this book examines the past, present and prospects of regional economic integration in africa. the empirical analysis ranges from unions formed during the years following independence to the proposed african continental free trade area (afcftra) which aims to remove trade barriers between all 55 african states. in addition, the book explores to what extent africa's regional economic communities (recs) have advanced in accordance with a linear integration model of goods, labor and capital markets. the book subsequently evaluates the suitability of the european model of deep integration with costly institutions for the conditions specific to africa. considering, for example, the role of informal and non-recorded trade, stylized cases of regional division of labour with increasing returns and imperfect competition are introduced to support the economic integration logic. past and current economic policies in africa are scrutinized to answer the question: how can african regions best foster new manufacturing industries and value chains across the continent? in conclusion, the book outlines content and processes of common industrial policy in the african regions. the book also addresses the controversial issue of international trade agreements between developing countries and the european union or the usa and investigates whether these agreements impede or promote economic development in africa. the book includes a detailed roadmap describing how to improve key clauses of agreements for economic partnership in the interest of african countries. in closing, it outlines a new vision of joint sustainable development for africa and europe.

this important two volume set unapologetically documents how capitalism results in the oppression of animals ranging from fish and chickens to dogs elephants and kangaroos as well as in environmental destruction vital resource depletion and climate change most traditional narratives portray humanity s use of other animals as natural and necessary for human social development and present the idea that capitalism is generally a positive force in the world but is this worldview accurate or just a convenient easy to accept way to ignore what is really happening a systematic oppression of animals that simultaneously results in environmental destruction and places insurmountable obstacles in the path to a sustainable and peaceful future david nibert s animal oppression and capitalism is a timely two volume set that calls into question the capitalist system at a point in human history when inequality and the imbalance in the distribution of wealth are growing domestically and internationally expert contributors show why the oppression of animals particularly the use of other animals as food is increasingly being linked to unfavorable climate change and the depletion of fresh water and other vital resources readers will also learn about the tragic connections between the production of animal products and global hunger and expanded regional violence and warfare and they will understand how many common human health problems including heart attacks strokes and various forms of cancer develop as a result of consuming animal products
