this edited volume brings together a broad range of international science education studies focusing on the interplay of teaching and learning science it recognizes the complexity present in today's education associated with major science related issues faced by society such as climate change diseases and pandemics global conflicts over energy food and water the studies discussed in this volume are focused on presenting different opportunities to teach these convoluted matters in order to find simplicity within the complexity and make it accessible to learners they bring together the challenges of preparing the students of today to become scientifically informed citizens of tomorrow considers legislation to expand and extend various educational programs including student loans teacher education and school and library construction a weekly record of scientific progress science and religion in the era of william james volume 1 eclipse of certainty 1820 1880 in this second volume i study the development of psychology in close association with the development of the particular sciences since in modern times the general scientific evolution provides the primary background and influences for psychology i shall not need as in the first volume to pay much attention to general social and political history with the exception of the period of political revolutions in the eighteenth century because of the intimate connection of the psychological evolution with the individual sciences i devote considerable space at the beginning to the modern development of the exact sciences and later to the evolution of the biological and social sciences from the preface vol 2
