welcome to the guide for 2019 it contains fifty horses that are coming into their three year old seasons colts or fillies potential classic winners or useful handicappers in the making the aim of the guide is to supply us with as many winners in the 2019 season as possible to aid our search for winners we look back into the horses juvenile campaigns and analyse their runs as well as a potential rating to pinpoint target races months in advance as well as have a small insight to a few of the stables last year we were blessed with a thrilling crop of three year old champion fillies alpha centauri swept to save the mile division for mrs john harrington and the niarchos family the multigroup 1 winning fillies sea of class and laurens for william haggas and karl burke respectively and the st leger runner up lah ti dah from that beautifully bred family of oaks winner dar re mi trained by john gosden the difficult agenda we have on our hands is that out of that crop of high class three year olds only two of them raced as juveniles sea of class was a late foal and lah ti dar wasn't given her debut until april at newmarket however i believe we have seen enough to give us a proper insight to the british classics of 2019 now why three year olds this is the most exciting year in a horses racing career as their potential is unknown and an improving horse can be very valuable to keep onside for example the crop of fillies if you backed each and every one of their runs to a ten pound stake you would be 495 90 better off for it last season at this stage we had already seen the guineas winner 8 1 saxon warrior and the derby winner masar and that is more than enough for me and hopefully you to delve into this year's crop the guide will include some of the top performers from the juvenile season but generally any racing watcher could throw a list together of highly rated horses together so my aim on top of the superstars is to give us a group of three year olds that will come on from their two year old campaigns and hopefully finish off a better rating come the end of the year than the mark they started on which should give us a nice crop of winners for the coming 2019 flat season the essential guide for any horse racing punter this handy to use book provides readers with 60 of the best horses to look out for this national hunt season written by our team of dedicated racing pundits based all over the uk and ireland this indepth guide is destined to be a source of winners our 60 flat horses to follow 2015 book provided readers with 35 winners and 48 places from just the 52 horses that ran including a 28 1 winner if that form can carry on over obstacles every reader is in for a profitable campaign make this season a winning one
