When Tish Happens Reading Faces Residential Schools and Reconciliation Artificial Intelligence in Bioinformatics and Chemoinformatics A Grammar of Kunbarlang Through Flood & Fire The Well-Read Life Frank Davey Edward Higgs J.R. Miller Yashwant Pathak Ivan Kapitonov Anne Patton Marcie Stokman

in the early 1960s a group of students at ubc started a magazine called tish the name was purposefully an anagram of shit in order to demonstrate their youthful and iconoclastic attitude in many ways tish and its editors became the clear break from older canadian poets and styles at the heart of the magazine and the movement was frank davey and it is davey who has written this definitive history davey has organized the material as a memoir starting from his own early days in abbotsford b c and gradually introducing the other poets including george bowering daphne marlatt and fred wah despite the fact that davey doesn t meet them until they all arrive at ubc much of the theory of the tish poets derives from the black mountain poets an american movement that incorporated the writings of charles olson robert creeley and robert duncan who suggested the name itself the black mountain poets believed that writing should be locally based and should grow out of the author s own breathing patterns the more specific to a locale the better the poets are introduced as characters in a play and when fred wah says let s start a magazine things happen the first 19 issues became the calling card for a new type of poetry but inevitably the writers began to go their own way it is davey s commitment that holds the group together despite their geographical separation the tish movement provided the impetus to create a new more contemporary canadian poetry and here frank davey reveals how it started grew and became a lasting force reading faces is the first book to discuss the historical contexts and theoretical underpinnings of the artificial intelligence ai systems that identify individuals or purport to ascribe emotions and characteristics to them based on their facial features it examines the direct impact of past research on the development of ai systems the way in which the past provides contexts which have predisposed people to accept outputs of ai systems as common sense how the role of politics and the changing nature of the state have led to the introduction of ai systems and their precursors how previous technologies led to the acceptance of the introduction of superficially similar ais and how the outputs and biases such as purported associations between race and criminality of facial biometrics systems have been determined by the historical nature of the underlying datasets they analyze reading faces approaches these issues within the sweep of western history how it has shaped conceptual categories about the application and ethics of ai and tried to foist those ideas and values on the global south this book is essential reading for postgraduates scholars as well as non specialist readers such as booksellers and librarians interested in modern ai technology
