The regional offices of the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO), the World Organisation for Animal Health (OIE) and the World Health Organization (WHO) in Asia and the Pacific Region (Regional Tripartite) have a longstanding and successful partnership in promoting and facilitating a One Health approach to address challenges at the human-animal-environment interface. The Regional Tripartite has agreed to collaborate to enhance multisectoral partnerships at country level ensuring that necessary multisectoral interventions reach all the affected populations in need, including hard-to-reach vulnerable populations and to accelerate control and elimination of neglected parasitic zoonoses across the Asia and the Pacific Region. Prevention and control of infection in animals is one of the critical means to reduce the burden of zoonoses in humans therefore the animal health sector has a very important role to play however awareness and knowledge are often limited among veterinary authorities, public health practitioners, animal health practitioners and animal owners. This handbook focuses on interventions that the animal health sector can implement to prevent human and animal disease caused by these parasites. It aims to provide up-to-date information in a concise form and is expected to encourage the relevant stakeholders to take actions to control and prevent neglected parasitic zoonoses although the handbook was written primarily for Asia and the Pacific Region the information is relevant in many other regions.

Neglected parasitic zoonoses such as cysticercosis and echinococcosis are a group of zoonoses that continue to impose a significant burden and affect livelihoods of the vulnerable populations that typically have limited access to adequate sanitation, basic living conditions, health and veterinary services and awareness. Recognising the disease burden and importance of a multisectoral approach to controlling and eliminating neglected parasitic zoonoses in 2018 the Regional Tripartite jointly organised a regional workshop on neglected foodborne parasitic zoonoses to control zoonoses in an efficient, effective and sustainable way. It is important to understand the transmission cycle of each disease and to implement strategic interventions at key stages via multisectoral participation from public health, animal health, environmental health and food safety.
