this book provides a highly original approach to the writings of the twentieth century german philosopher walter benjamin by one of his most distinguished readers it develops the idea of quote working with quote benjamin seeking both to read his corpus and to put it to work to show how a reading of benjamin can open up issues that may not themselves be immediately at stake in his texts the defining elements in benjamin s writings that andrew benjamin isolates history experience translation technical reproducibility and politics are put to work that is their utility is established in engaging the works of others the question is how utility is understood as andrew benjamin argues utility involves demonstrating the different ways in which benjamin is a central thinker within the project of understanding the nature of modernity this is best achieved by noting connections and points of differentiation between his work and the writings of adorno and heidegger however the more demanding project is that working with benjamin necessitates deploying the implicit assumptions within his writings as well as demanding of his formulations more than is provided by their initial presentation what is at stake is not the application of benjamin's thought rather what counts is its use working with benjamin engages with the themes central to benjamin's work with deftness daring and critical insight while at the same time situating those themes within current academic and cultural debates a textbook introduction to international law and justice is specially written for students studying law in other departments such as politics and ir students will engage with debates surrounding sovereignty and global governance sovereign and diplomati a new reading of madness in don quixote based on archival accounts of insanity from the records of the spanish inquisition dale shuger presents a social corpus of early modern madness that differs radically from the literary madness previously studied drawing on over 100 accounts of insanity defences many of which contain statements from a wide social spectrum housekeepers nieces doctors and barbers as well as the testimonies of the alleged madmen and women themselves shuger argues that cervantes exploration of madness as experience is intimately linked to the questions about ethics reason will and selfhood that unreason presented for early modern spaniards in adapting challenging and transforming these discourses don quixote investigates spaces of interiority confronts the limitations of knowledge of the self and the world and reflects on the social strategies for diagnosing and dealing with those we cannot understand shuger discovers an intimate connection between cervantes's integration of this discourse of madness and his part in forging the new genre of the european novel the study of globalization in cinema assumes many guises from the exploration of global cinematic cities to the burgeoning world cinema turn within film studies which addresses the global nature of film production exhibition and distribution in this ambitious new study malini guha draws together these two distinctly different ways of thinking about the cinema interrogating representations of global london and paris as migrant cinematic cities featuring the arrival settlement and departure of migrant figures from the decline of imperial rule to the global present drawing on a range of case studies from contemporary cinema including the films of michael haneke claire denis horace ovchynd stephen frears guha also considers their world cinema status in light of their reconfiguration of established forms of filmmaking from modernism to social realism an illuminating analysis of london and paris in world cinema from the vantage point of migrant mobilities from empire to the world explores the ramifications of this historical shift towards the global one that pertains in equal measure to cityscapes their representation as world cinema texts and to the rise of world cinema discourse within film studies itself
