in privatization in turkey power bloc capital accumulation and state ahmet zaifer offers a rare look on privatization in turkey that involves all three historical periods of turkish privatization process 1980s and 1990s 2000s and 2010s and covers different forms of privatization from divestiture to public private partnership benefiting from theoretically informed qualitative research spanning nearly a decade that has involved several interviews with key informant groups extensive review of newspaper articles and detailed analysis of annual reports of businesses ahmet zaifer convincingly proves that the acceleration of privatization in turkey has not only provided advantages to so called favourable capital groups and the government elites but also consolidated the position of capital in general at the expense of labouring popular classes and the natural environment of the entire country southeast europe s history of the last two centuries is marked by deep transformations and upheavals the emergence and disappearance of states ethnic conflicts and wars changes of political systems economic crises migration movements and natural disasters most of these upheavals have been experienced as deep crises forcing people to adapt to often radically new situations this can cause crisis management to become a permanent way of life the book focuses on the cultures of crisis it analyzes the reactions of societies or individuals to them their impact on everyday life on peoples strategies of coping on the processes of adaptation and on peoples attitudes focus is placed on crises relating to migration and post socialist transformation to politics and religion and to labour relations series ethnologia balkanica vol 18 subject sociology southeast european studies politics many emerging economies are on the front line of the devastating impacts of global warming such as desertification and extreme weather events but for historical and political reasons they follow ambitious growth targets with seemingly little concern for climate change and environmental degradation focusing on the case of turkey this book investigates the economic impacts of possible climate change policies to help meet the required mitigation targets and transition to a low carbon economy in order to reach net zero targets by 2050 in compliance with the paris agreement turkey must introduce policies that promote low carbon investments green jobs and low carbon employment more broadly this book explores the empirical evidence on the effectiveness of a carbon pricing mechanism by developing an econometric vector autoregression var model to analyse key data sets this time series analysis provides insights on a macro level dealing with aggregate data in which the role and complexity of micro interferences disappear allowing for the discovery of patterns and changes over time thus the book contributes to the literature on methodology by arguing that time series analysis is one of the best fitting approaches to estimate possible impacts of climate change policies on an economy additionally the results of the model are compared and contrasted with similar data from other emerging economies to identify potential common policy solutions between countries at a similar stage of development this book is vital reading for researchers interested in climate policy the economics of climate change and environmental economics the black sea region rarely hit the media headlines until the outbreak of war in georgia in 2008 yet its importance as a focus of european union eu external policy making had already been growing for several years the area is fascinating and diverse comprising both large and small states with a mixture of democracies and more authoritarian regimes traditionally a central foreign policy concern for russia and turkey since the end of the cold war the eu and the us have become increasingly involved in the many dimensions of black sea politics this book brings together a broad range of specialists on the region to analyze the challenge of divergent agendas both within and outside the eu more specifically it looks at how the eu's enlargement to include states on the black sea shore has brought about new external policies including the european neighbourhood policy black sea synergy and the eastern partnership all representing subtly different aims and interests the various sections in the book also examine regionalization conflict resolution security relationships between the black sea's states and last but not least the vital issue of energy which has begun to dominate the discussion of the region designed to further the debate on the future of eu policies for the black sea region this book is an essential resource for researchers students and others in search of a coherent picture of the inter relationship of eu initiatives and policies in the region in the context of turkey's accession to the eu the issue of potential migration from turkey and its impact upon european labor markets became one of the concerns of the eu considering turkey's growing population and young labor force in 2011 half a century after the bi lateral agreement between turkey and germany on labor recruitment in 1961 migration plays a key role in relations of turkey with the eu and will even increase its significance not necessarily for the next fifty years but certainly for the next decade this book touches upon various aspects of the ongoing debate about the effects of turkey's accession to the eu upon the migration flows and sheds light on various dimensions of current panorama addresses policy implications as well as future challenges and opportunities how globalized information networks can be used for strategic advantage until recently globalization was viewed on balance as an inherently good thing that would benefit people and societies nearly everywhere now there is growing concern that some countries will use their position in globalized networks to gain undue influence over other societies through their dominance of information and financial networks a concept known as weaponized interdependence in exploring the conditions under which china russia and the united states might be expected to weaponize control of information and manipulate the global economy the contributors to this volume challenge scholars and practitioners to think differently about foreign economic policy national security and statecraft for the twenty first century the book addresses such questions as what areas of the global economy are most vulnerable to unilateral control of information and financial networks how sustainable is the use of weaponized interdependence what are the possible responses from targeted actors and how sustainable is the open global economy if weaponized interdependence becomes a default tool for managing international relations
